Job Description

The Abraxas Leadership Development Program (LDP)'s learning center is seeking a science teacher and a math teacher with a background in experiential education who is interested in applying experiential education methodologies to a classroom/academic setting. This position will also be asked to collaborate with LDP's Leadership Experiential Adventure Program (LEAP) staff to integrate the academic science and math curriculum with adventure based programming.

The ideal candidate will have a background in curriculum development, teaching, experiential education theory, and experience working with at risk, adjudicated, and/or special education students. The highly structured nature of LDP allows for a productive learning and teaching environment for both staff and students.

Abraxas Youth & Family Services, a leader in the juvenile justice field, has an opening for a Teacher at our South Mountain, PA facilities (between Chambersburg and Gettysburg.)

Abraxas is a publicly traded company whose primary business is in the field of corrections, education, rehabilitation and treatment for adults and youth. We partner with federal, state, county and local government agencies to meet their service needs through quality and cost-efficient services and programs.

Abraxas began in Marienville, Pennsylvania in 1973 with only one site and only 30 kids. Now, Abraxas Youth & Family Services extends to eight states serving 4,225 youth, adults and families at 29 different locations.

At Abraxas, compensation isn't the only reward for your talents. We also offer excellent benefit options designed to meet your health, financial, insurance, and personal needs. These benefits include: Medical, Dental, Prescription drug coverage, Vision, 401 K, Stock purchase options, life insurance, disability insurance, etc.

ESSENTIAL DUTIES AND RESPONSIBILITIES include the following:

- Plan a program of study that meets the clients individualized needs, interest, and abilities.
- Creates a classroom environment that is conducive to learning and appropriate to the clients maturity and interest.
- Assists in the on-going development of the school curriculum and processes toward the achievement of curriculum goals.
- Employs a wide variety of instructional methods and materials that are most appropriate for meeting educational objectives that are outlined in the school curriculum.
- Assesses the accomplishments of clients on a regular basis and provides progress reports as required.
- Participates as an educational team member in relationship towards the clients, staff, and school.
- Diagnosing the learning disabilities of clients on a regular basis and seeks assistance of educational specialists as required.
- Manage an educational caseload by supporting the educational plan, setting short-term goals, and summarizing achievements in reports for assigned clients.
- Administers tests to evaluate client progression, records results, and issues reports to inform parents/guardians of educational progress.
